

How to use this overview:

For domestic shipments: see transit times The Netherlands.
For international shipments: The Netherlands is always the country of departure.
- Search for the country of arrival and take the first two digits of the zip code of arrival.
- The column 'Departure days' shows the days of departure.
- The column 'Transit time' is the transit time in working days (starting on the day of departure).
- In the blue cells can be read (based on the above mentioned departure day) when the shipment will be delivered at the delivery address:

Mo to Fr = collection days
Mo to Fr = day of arrival (with marking  = day of arrival + 1 week)

Remarks about this overview:

- These transit times are not guaranteed. No rights can be derived from the specified delivery or transit time
- Booking a groupage shipment: latest 1 day before the collection day (day of departure) before 4.00 pm.
- Booking a LTL/FTL shipment: latest 1 day before the collection day (day of departure) before 12.00 pm.
- In all cases Islands, mountains, city centre and Zeeuws-Vlaanderen are excluded from the transit times indications.
- The transit times for Eastern Europe are based on a "normal" clearance period (+/- 1 day).
- On request it is possible to look for possibilities to deliver the shipments faster to the customer.
- (Inter)national bank holidays may influence the departure days and transit times in this overview.
For an actual list of bank holidays please visit our website:
www.mainfreight.com/the-netherlands/en-nz/info-point/transport/holidays-overview
- Possible adjustments in the future on these transit times will be communicated via our website

How to use this overview:

For domestic shipments: see transit times The Netherlands.
For international shipments: The Netherlands is always the country of arrival.
- Search for the country of departure and take the first two digits of the zip code of departure.
- The column 'Departure days' shows the days of departure.
- The column 'Transit time' is the transit time in working days (starting on the day of departure).
- In the blue cells can be read (based on the above mentioned departure day) when the shipment will be delivered at the delivery address:

Mo to Fr = collection days
Mo to Fr = day of arrival (with marking  = day of arrival + 1 week)

Remarks about this overview:

- These transit times are not guaranteed. No rights can be derived from the specified delivery or transit times.
- Booking a groupage shipment: latest 1 day before the collection day (day of departure) before 12.00 pm.
- Booking a LTL/FTL shipment: latest 1 day before the collection day (day of departure) before 12.00 pm.
- In all cases Islands, mountains, city centre and Zeeuws-Vlaanderen are excluded from the transit times indications.
- The transit times for Eastern Europe are based on a "normal" clearance period (+/- 1 day).
- On request it is possible to look for possibilities to deliver the shipments faster to the customer.
- (Inter)national bank holidays may influence the departure days and transit times in this overview.
For an actual list of bank holidays please visit our website:
